

Advancing Racial Equity in Early Learning

Vision

There is a new sense of urgency about ensuring that all children are ready for — and successful in — school. The Washington Early Learning Plan (ELP) adopted in 2010 has energized early learning stakeholders at the state and local levels, and driven increased investment to implement critical strategies and programs as part of the 10-year roadmap. The plan describes what is necessary to support the healthy development of children and outlines a universal implementation approach, but it does not fully address the impact that race, culture and language have on child outcomes — particularly for children of color. Nor does the plan identify specific strategies to implement the ELP to intentionally remove and reduce these barriers keeping children from opportunity. To address those gaps, a committed group of parents, professionals and policymakers developed this Racial Equity Theory of Change (RE-TOC) to identify steps to intentionally change policies, practices and systems to implement the ELP in a meaningful way that gives historically marginalized communities access to opportunity.

Developing a Racial Equity Theory of Change

Thrive has convened a series of statewide meetings of stakeholders from across the state, including parents, practitioners, researchers, and community leaders, as well as partners at the Department of Early Learning (DEL) and the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI). By bringing together a broad and diverse group of partners committed to this work, we have collectively generated a roadmap that:

- Provides a collaborative vision and approach that supports concerted action among decision-makers at all levels of Washington's early learning system, from parents and child care providers interacting with individual children, to policy makers and funders who influence how the early learning system is designed
- Identifies ACTIONS that allow us to act on WHAT WE KNOW about the best way to implement the POLICIES, PRACTICES, and CULTURAL PERSPECTIVES that support the BUILDING BLOCKS we believe are necessary to realize the OUTCOME we envision for children of color
- Articulates how individuals, organizations and institutions can take both individual and collective action to reduce the opportunity gap

Next Steps

Thrive by Five Washington, with support from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and in collaboration with partners, intends to develop a grant strategy to fund and support targeted and innovative projects that work to make the aspirations of the RE-TOC a reality. Thrive will continue to work with partners to identify the most effective ways to support this community as we individually and collectively take action. We believe that these combined efforts undertaken by early learning stakeholders will collectively create greater momentum and commitment to ensure a future in which race is eliminated as a predictor of progress and success for children birth through 3rd Grade.

Advancing Racial Equity in Early Learning DRAFT Outcome Map

Early learning, and all things that are related (prenatal care, maternal health, healthy families), are seen and valued as foundational to a healthy, fair and equitable society.

OUTCOME: Programs, policies and funding decisions to implement the Early Learning Plan are well informed and prioritized in response to the experience, perspective and needs of people of color.

Building Blocks

PPRs – What supports the realization of the Building Block?

A Community Voice and Influence – There are expanded pathways for voice and influence of those furthest from opportunity	B Deliberative Bodies – Decision makers and funders at organizational, regional, tribal and state-levels make funding and policy decisions that genuinely reflect and meet the requirements of communities of color	C Practice Informed by Data & Experience – Decision-makers and practitioners use qualitative and quantitative data to make decisions that consider the perspective, experiences and requirements of children and families of color	D Early Learning System Design and Implementation – State, local & tribal agencies consider historical and current realities of children of color in program design, implementation and coordination
Policies: 1 Pathways exist for community voices to exercise influence and power in discourse and decision-making processes 2 Funding and support are available to allow/honor individual, organizational and tribal capacity to participate equally in decision-making processes Practices: 3 There are intentionally engaging planned processes to connect decision makers with Gearing Up for Action

RAISE AWARENESS

1. Shift the discourse about race and opportunity, providing information, education and mentoring about racial equity
2. Develop communication materials to raise awareness about what racial equity is and is not and why to do it
3. Develop tools to help champions advance racial equity

ADVOCATE

1. Advocate for the requirements/interests of people of color
2. Advocate for RETOC strategies
3. Advocate for capacity and funding in communities
4. Use disaggregated school district-level birth through eight information and to identify ways to improve opportunity for children and families far from it
5. Cultivate champions for racial equity among colleagues and community members

LISTEN & ENGAGE

1. Invite communities to participate in decisions about defining outcomes
2. Create feedback loops that allow community participation in course correction
3. Actively engage tribal leadership in defining desired outcomes and participating in decision-making processes/entities, from the beginning
4. Actively recruit people of color in defining desired outcomes and participating in decision-making processes/entities, from the beginning
5. Develop other methods for engagement and partnership than "meeting participation" or "membership", to allow more diverse community members to participate
6. Create flexible tables/venues/locations/methods of participating in meetings and other decision-making conversations

PROMPT ACTION

1. Provide mentoring in leadership
2. Actively recruit professionals who are knowledgeable about and take action for racial equity
3. Build racial equity into the work plans of initiatives and decision-making bodies
4. Actively engage and partner with school districts, using WaKIDS data and other information to implement racial equity strategies
